

Worldly Shame is the name of a character (the only allegorical one) in "A pretty interlude called Nice Wanton". 1560 (in Dodsley's Old Plays
ed. W.C. Hazlitt 1874 vol II p 161) ~~see also~~ see Collier's Hist Dram. Poetry ii p 294 ed.
1879). The mother incurs shame of society by the evil conduct of her children whom she has brought up badly by spoiling them.

See also Halliwell's Dich.

Northfield Hall (Highgate) Company, Limited,

NORTH HILL, HIGHGATE.

Secretary. ALFRED TOULMIN SMITH,

WOOD LANE, HIGHGATE, N.,

&

SELBORNE CHAMBERS,

CHANCERY LANE, W.C.